Description: From Enzingerboden, we follow the trail, steadily ascending towards Rötenskogel and Winterkogel. At around 2,100 metres, the boundary of the National Park is reached, soon followed by Lake Schwarzkarlsee. In this high-mountain landscape, the inhabitants of wetland habitats, the short growing season, and survival strategies in the alpine environment are explored. From here, the mountain panorama can be enjoyed beautifully. The return route follows the same path.
