Description: Before the actual hike begins, a taxi service takes the group to the Lenzanger parking area. From there, the joint tour with the national park ranger sets off into the evening atmosphere – the last rays of sunlight bathe the mountain world in warm light. After a short stretch through the forest, quiet clearings open up, offering particularly impressive views of the sunset. As dusk slowly falls, the relaxed descent over snow-covered alpine meadows leads toward the inn. Participants can then decide whether to accompany the ranger back to the parking lot or let the atmospheric evening come to a close at the inn.
